Until funding is confirmed, you may be responsible for the full cost of care.

Deposit information

If you are funding your own care, a £2,000 deposit is required prior to admission. This deposit will be held in accordance with your contract and may be used to settle any outstanding charges. At the end of your stay, we will provide a final statement of account and promptly refund any remaining balance. An advance payment covering your first month's fees is also required before your stay begins.

Insurance

We are unable to accept responsibility for personal items that are lost or damaged, so please arrange suitable contents insurance for any items you bring with you. We would also recommend creating an inventory list for these belongings. We hold insurance against claims for injury or death, arising from an accident that is our fault.

Your finances

We strongly recommend consulting an independent financial advisor before making a significant financial commitment. Before agreeing a contract, we will complete a financial assessment with you to ensure you understand the commitment involved, and we may repeat this if your circumstances change. We will discuss expected costs with you and may review affordability periodically.

Notice period

The first four weeks of your stay will be a trial period. During this time, you may end the agreement for any reason by giving at least one week's written notice to the Home Manager. After the trial period, either party can end the contractual agreement by giving at least 28-days' notice in writing.

In the event of a resident's death, fees will usually be payable for a short period while the room is vacated, including up to three days if the room is reoccupied sooner, or up to 10 days while personal belongings remain, which may be extended by agreement.
